

HackerRank JavaScript Intermediate Skill Test

Hi Matthew,

Thank you for taking the time to attempt the JavaScript(Intermediate) Certification Test.

Unfortunately, you did not pass the test on this attempt. Nevertheless, you can improve your skills by practicing some of the challenges on HackerRank.

You can retry the test after 30 days.
Good luck, and happy coding!

Practice

This helped me learn web development since it incorporated many lessons that we learned in class. I think that it helped solidify the lessons we covered over the semester by putting my knowledge to the test and learning new implementation methods through the prompts. I thought that I had a better grasp on the subjects, but found that I had to reference our previous lecture content. While I spent a good chunk of the time trying to debug and truly understand the problem, this was a good insight into interview questions in the future if I want to go into web development. Working with Django in the past did not help me prepare for all the funny-ness JavaScript throw at me with the assignments and simple debugging.